London: These latest air views, made with the Olympic Games only a few days away, show the various arenas - spread throughout London and the Home Counties - where the XIVth Olympiad of the modern series will be staged.

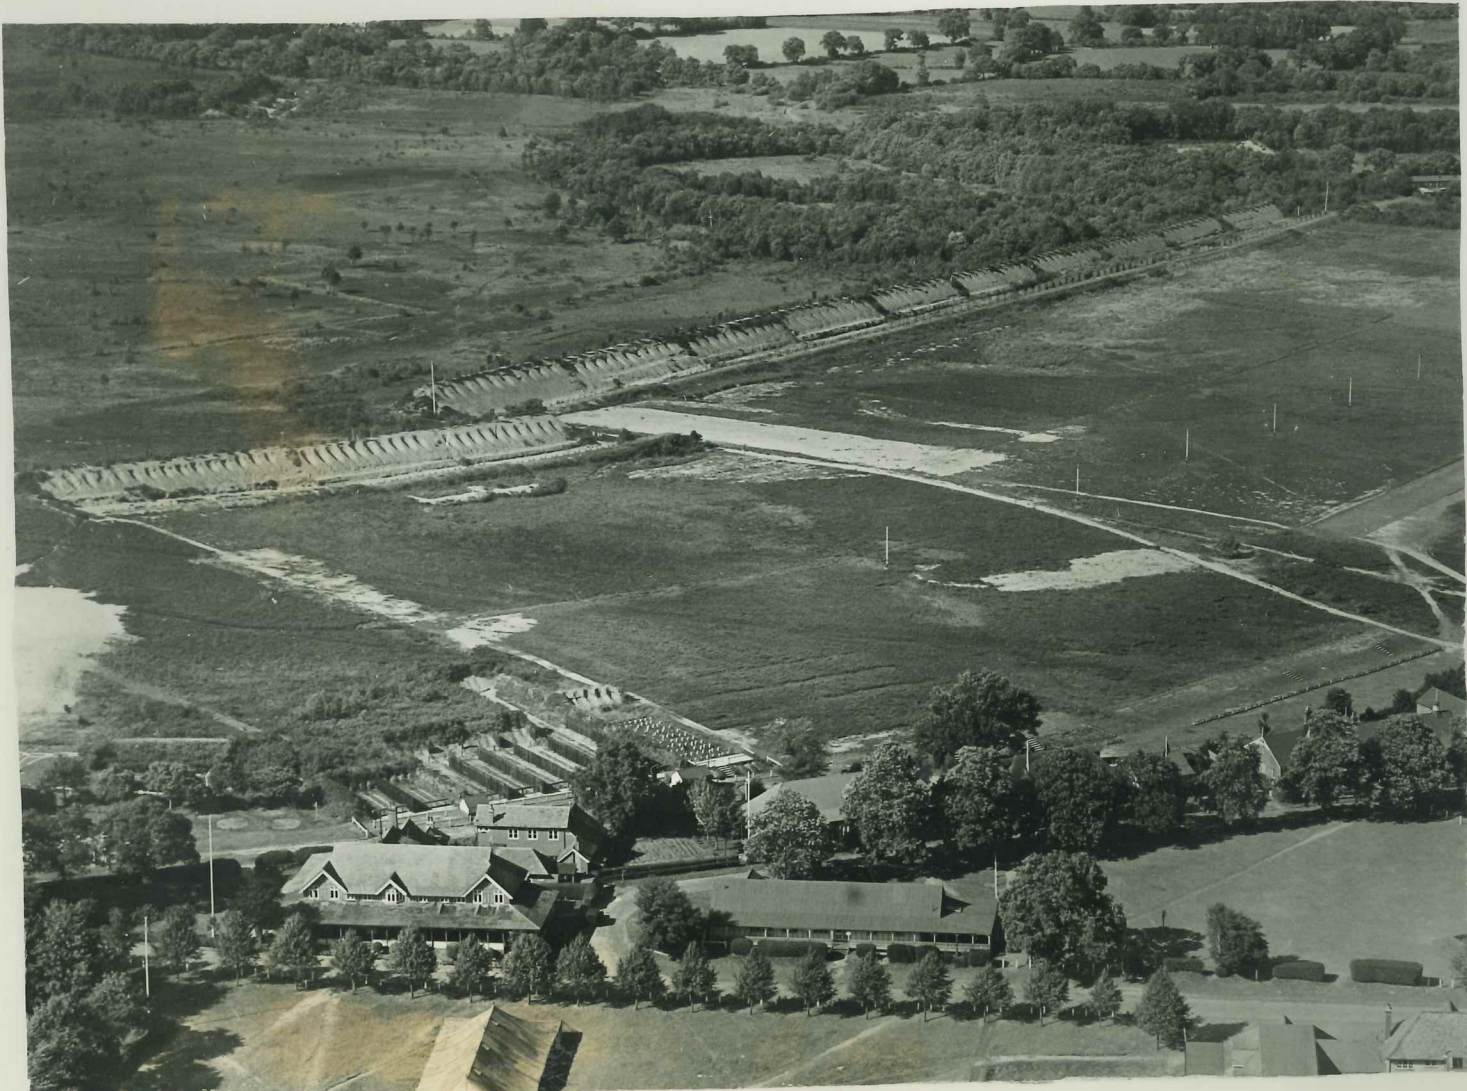

PHOTO SHOWS: The Central Command Stadium at Aldershot, Hampshire - where the world's finest horsemen will compete for Olympic titles.

Besides the purely equestrian events, the modern Pentathlon will be decided here. This gruelling test, essentially for the soldier, includes shooting, swimming, fencing, athletics and riding. Thirteen nations are competing in the Pentathlon.

Stadium rails have been painted, obstacles are ready (left, centre) and marquees have been erected for the Games.
