

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely Georgian, on a piece of aged, yellowish paper. The text is arranged in several lines. On the right side of the text, there are two circular red wax seals or stamps, partially overlapping the text.