Entry of National Army into Budapest

After Kun's Soviet Republic collapsed he fled, and several new governments were attempted. They did not gain authority because of the Romanian occupation of Budapest. The Romanian Army left on 14th November 1919 under the direction of four Entente Generals sent to Budapest to protect the Hungarians.

The Hungarian Army under Admiral Horthy entered Budapest on 16th November 1919

Five values were surcharged A NEMZETI / HADSEREG / BEVONULASA / 1919. XI/16. in four lines. (Entry of the National Army November 16 1919 into Budapest), and the overprinted stamps went on sale on the 16th November 1919.

These stamps were withdrawn on the 25th November 1919 and the remaining sets sold in aid of charities with MARQUE GARANTIE / 'SOC.MIS.' in an oval on the gummed side.

Romanian Occupation of Budapest Issues

While the Budapest occupation overprints may seem to be true 'occupation' stamps, they should be categorised as speculative, local issues. While the Rumanian military initiated the overprinting, it was without authorisation and with local initiative only.

Nagyszeben Issue

The so-called Nagyszeben issue was prepared under the direction of a military governor in the area. The Nagyszeben overprints were used in several larger towns (Borosjenő, Déva, Gyulafehérvár, and even Hódmezővásárhely in southeastern Hungary)..
