DEPARTMENTAL SURCHARGES.

From 1868 to 1874 the then current postage stamps were overprinted (in red or blue or black) with various initials denoting a public department or official. A list of the different initials will be found under South Australia in the current Catalogue, Part I. The number of varieties of these stamps is very large, but with a few exceptions they are all extremely scarce; two lines on the opposite page therefore will provide ample space for all the collector is likely to possess.
