For details refer pages: 7-9 and 27-30.

1. In 1347F/1357H/1946, this type was introduced in R.M.S.

The circle was of 31 mm. diameter with a horizontal band of 7 mm. for the date. In the upper segment of 16 mm. was "IN or "OUT" above, with "SECTION -- SET --" below all transliterated, CS. was in the lower segment of 8 mm. - Pl. XII. No. 103.

2. For Transit Sections a horizontal line was below "IN" or "OUT". The upper segment of 18 mm. was divided into two segments for "IN" or "OUT" above, with "SECTION -- SET --" below. C.S. was in the lower segment of 7 mm. The horizontal band of 6 mm. was for the date - Pl. XII. No.104.

7. Saigha-e-Tabadilah- Exchange Branch:

With the change of Calendar in 1316H/1307F/1898 general TYPE VI was adopted for this section.

The circle was of 26 mm. diameter having the year without "Fa", on top, followed by "Saigha-e-Tabadilah/ Haidarabad", the date with month, and CS., one below the other. Pl. IX. No. 61/a.

This type was used for Hyderabad till 1338F/1347H/ 1928.

For Humnabad the size of circle was of 31 mm - Pl. IX. No. 61/b.

Later on, for some Exchange Offices the above type was adopted with circles of 25 to 30 mm. diameters having the year with "Fa". Pl. IX. 62/a.

When the honorific suffix of "Sharif" was added to Gulbarga, a holy place, the size of circle was changed to 30 mm. Wadi and Yadgir also had bigger circles. Except Kuppal - Pl. IX. No. 62/b, which had crude script, other branches were in good script.

7. "SAIGHA-E-TABADILAH" - (EXCHANGE BRANCH)

On 25 Ramadan, 1299H/Shehrewar, 1292F/10 August, 1882, the Postal Agreement was signed between the Government of India and the Government of his Highness the Nizam, whereby the exchange of Post between the two postal services was made effective.

In the beginning, the Exchange Branch was opened at Hyderabad. Subsequently there were 25 such branches, besides Hyderabad. These were either in the same town where there was a British India Post Office, or on the borders of the Nizam's Dominions. The list of such branches with their corresponding post offices of British India is given in Appendix C.

In 1339F/1348H/1929, this type was adopted for ...o.

1a 4 ps.

In 1339F/1348H/1930, when postal rates was increased from ½ anna to 8 pies, fresh handstamps were made for almost all post offices, incorporating the double postal rates of 1a 4 ps. in place of "Yak" or "Ek Anna".

These handstamps were supplied to R.M.S. and Experimental Post Offices also, but with a few variations in the wordings of 1a 4 Ps.

In this type the amount was written in "ankras", in which a slanting line stood for ANNA, and the same with a tiny curve represented PIES. These were used for all post offices - Pl. XIX.No. 163/a, for R.M.S.Pl. XIX.No.163/b, and Experimental Post Offices - Pl. XIX.No. 163/c.
