OBJECTIFS DU MILLÉNAIRE POUR LE DÉVELOPPEMENT

« L'élimination de l'extrême pauvreté demeure l'un des grands défis de notre temps et constitue l'une des principales préoccupations de la communauté internationale. Pour mettre fin à ce fléau, les gouvernements, les organisations de la société civile et le secteur privé devront unir leurs efforts dans le cadre d'un partenariat mondial plus étroit et plus efficace pour le développement. Les objectifs du Millénaire pour le développement sont assortis de cibles à atteindre dans des délais précis, de façon à mesurer les progrès accomplis dans la lutte contre la pauvreté monétaire, la faim, la maladie, l'absence de logements adéquats et l'exclusion – tout en promouvant l'égalité des sexes, la santé, l'éducation et le respect de l'environnement. Ils consacrent également les droits fondamentaux de la personne humaine – le droit de chaque être humain à la santé, à l'éducation, au logement et à la sécurité. Ces objectifs ambitieux mais réalisables indiquent la voie à suivre par la communauté internationale pour faire reculer l'extrême pauvreté d'ici à 2015 dans le cadre du programme global de l'ONU pour le développement. »

BAN Ki-moon, secrétaire général de l'Organisation des Nations Unies

Please, stop child labour!

Each child has the right to go to school

"Millions of children are victims of violence and exploitation. They are physically and emotionally vulnerable and they can be scarred for life by mental or emotional abuse. That is why children should always have the first claim on our attention and resources. They must be at the heart of our thinking on challenges we are addressing on a daily basis. We know what to do, and we know how to do it. The means are at hand, it is up to us to seize the opportunity and build a world that is fit for children."

Ban Ki-moon
Secretary-General of the United Nations
Remarks on the Twentieth Anniversary of the Convention on the Rights of the Child, New York, 20 November 2009

"No to child labour is our stance. Yet 215 million are in child labour as a matter of survival. A world without child labour is possible with the right priorities and policies: quality basic education, opportunities for young people, decent work for parents, a basic social protection floor for all. Driven by conscience, let's muster the courage and conviction to act in solidarity and ensure every child's right to his or her childhood. It brings rewards for all."
